MEN WHO HELPED MAKE PORTSMOUTH

Brief Sketches of Their Lives, Which Should Be An Inspiration to All; Opportunities In Portsmouth for the Hard-working, Conscientious Young Man Just As Good As Anywhere Else In The World

Frank R. Bachman, president of the Portsmouth Business College, is the owner of an institution which has been active in Portsmouth for more than thirty years, though the school was not incorporated until 1909. Born in Sardis, Ohio, April 29, 1889, Frank Roscoe Bachman spent the boyhood days on his father's farm and received his early education in the country schools. When he was a boy of 17 he went to work in a nail factory in New Brighton, Pennsylvania, and spent three years in that work, devoting his evening to special courses in night school. Later he returned to Ohio and taught in the public schools of Monroe county. While teaching he continued his study of the business course which he took independently of any college as our universities did not at that time offer commercial courses. In 1913 Mr. Bachman came to Portsmouth and was for three years employed in the offices of the Irving Drew Co. From 1915 until 1918 he engaged in the real estate business and on November 11, 1918, became a teacher in the bookkeeping department at the business college. The following year Mr. Bachman bought the school and has operated it under his control for the past five years. This year the school has incorporated in its course of study a two year teacher training course, which will give to those completing the course a certificate to teach commercial subjects in the high schools of the state without further examination.

Mr. Bachman is a member of the Church of Christ. On October 16, 1913, Mr. Bachman was married to Miss Sarah Edna Marsh of South Webster, Ohio. There are three daughters in the Bachman family: Mary Joanna, aged 9 years; Robert Drusilla, aged 6, and Betty Lee, aged 8 months.

As the president of a school which is training young men and women of Portsmouth and this vicinity for useful positions in the business world Mr. Bachman is actively associated with the business interests of the city.

POINCARÉ MAY ATTEMPT TO FORM A NEW MINISTRY

PARIS, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincaré who with his cabinet resigned office today, has acceded to the principle to the request that he endeavor to form another ministry, made by President Millerand today. M. Poincaré, it was announced, will give the president a definite reply tomorrow morning. M. Poincaré said he would make his decision about retaining the office tomorrow.

PARIS, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincaré tendered his resignation today following a defeat in the chamber of deputies on the government's pension bill.

On leaving the palace of the Elysee, M. Poincaré said his decision to resign was irrevocable.

President Millerand accepted the cabinet's resignation during the premier's visit.

President Millerand then asked M. Poincaré to continue as premier until he conferred with him at the Elysee Palace later.

M. Poincaré was summoned to the palace for this afternoon by (Continued on Page 11.)

Notorious Bandit Killed

TULSA, OKLA., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Ed Lockhart, notorious bandit and bank robber, was shot and killed in a gun fight early today with Sheriff Bob Sanford, of Tulsa county and a group of six deputies, six miles west of Sperry, Okla.

Receiving a tip that Lockhart was in a house on the Fred Walker farm, the sheriff and his party surrounded the place just at day break.

Mont Grady, of Muskogee, a special officer, knocked at the front door. The door flew open and Lockhart covered him with a rifle, commanding him to "stick 'em up."

Grady complied and Lockhart took the officer's revolver.

Judge Quast, deputy sheriff, entered the house from the rear, and as he came upon Lockhart and Grady, the bandit thrust Grady in front of him, finally backing out of the house and striking for the timber, still using the officer as a shield.

As he neared the edge of the clearing about the house he fired at Sheriff Sanford. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Anderson Has To Use Mop and Pail

OSSINING, N. Y., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Number 75,745, who to the outside world is known as William H. Anderson, resigned as superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, was an early riser in Sing Sing prison today and after the usual preliminaries, including a meagre breakfast, was put to work with a mop and pail.

Anderson is a member of the reception company, which includes new comers to Sing Sing, who for ten days clean up both inside and outside the prison. Warden Laves said the prisoner later probably would be assigned to clerical duties.

Anderson is the tallest prisoner in Sing Sing.

Calm Follows Storm In Land Fraud Probe

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The relative calm of a brief session of the senate inquiry into the alleged land frauds, in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas today followed the storm that broke in its sessions yesterday.

The investigators were called together today to receive and put into the record report by Postal Inspector William Cameron on alleged methods used in the Cameron and Hidalgo county lands. Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, chairman of the committee plans to be out of the city for a few days filling a speaking engagement in his home state and it was agreed to hold no further sessions until Monday.

Bergdoll Reported On His Way Home To Face "The Music"

BERLIN, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll was believed today to be on the first stage of his return to the United States to "face the music" for his evasion of military service during the World War.

He left Eberbach yesterday for an unknown destination, carrying considerable luggage, after making preparations which indicated that he did not contemplate returning. Friends stated that the Red Cross government, which was not keen to retain him as a resident, had issued a certificate of American citizenship enabling him to cross the frontier.

His departure was in the direction of Frankfurt and it was believed he would take a train for Hamburg and there board a steamship for New York. With him was his faithful shadow and chauffeur, Eugene Stecher.

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Bavarian government officials breathed a sigh of relief today when it became known that Grover Bergdoll had pulled up stakes and departed for other spheres of activity. They said they did not know where he had gone and furthermore did not care. When Bergdoll left Eberbach he took good bye only to his uncle, Carl Mohrmann, proprietor of the Krone Hotel Hotel, where the draft evader has made his home for more than three years.

BREMEN, GERMANY, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Officials of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company declare Grover Bergdoll has made no reservations for passage on the Steamship Amerika, which sails today. It is reported that the draft evader, traveling under an assumed name, boarded the Amerika this morning, but this report is unverified.

COLLECTION RECORDS BROKEN
CLEVELAND, O., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—All Cuyahoga county records for half a year collection were broken in January. County Treasurer Ralph C. McBride, announced today. The collections totaled $22,281,588.89, over five million dollars more than the previous high mark.

Coolidge Has Small Lead In South Dakota

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—President Calvin Coolidge was holding a lead of less than two thousand votes over Senator Hiram Johnson for the Republican presidential preference when tabulation of unofficial returns from yesterday's primary in South Dakota was resumed today. Gained largely through the city vote in the southeastern part of the state, the lead was reduced by reports early today from heavy Johnson counties, and rural precincts in the central and northern parts were expected by Johnson workers to cut deeper into the Coolidge lead.

Coolidge workers, answering the claim of Johnson managers that the Californian had won by 10,000 majority, insisted the western part of the state and more nearly complete returns from the southeastern section would enable the president to hold his lead.

Meanwhile the majority of Governor W. H. McMaster over Senator Thomas Sterling for the Republican senatorial nomination had grown to more than 6,000 early today. On the Democratic ticket, only scattered and incomplete returns were available, but the state headquarters of the party at Huron backing the majority column flings, declared William G. McAdoo had obtained the presidential endorsement. He was opposed by a faction seeking to send an uncommitted delegation to the national convention.

Returns from 710 precincts of approximately 1,750 in the state, gave Coolidge 25,575, and Senator Johnson, 23,944, while 738 precincts gave McMaster, 27,634 and Sterling, 21,535.

Favor Child Labor Amendments

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Favorable report of a resolution proposing a child labor amendment to the constitution was ordered today by the house judiciary committee.

Foil Plot To Hold Up Train

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 26.—A plot to hold up a Pennsylvania passenger train at the Beck's Run bridge near Homestead, a suburb, this afternoon, was thwarted by city and county detectives. Edward J. Brophy, superintendent of the Pittsburgh police, and five city detectives were injured, three seriously, when they used their automobiles to stop a machine occupied by one of the bandits. Both automobiles were wrecked. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Supplies for Flyers Reach Canada

SEATTLE, WASH., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Supplies of fuel and oil have reached Prince Rupert, B. C., and yellow buoys have been floated at Seal Cove to designate the landing place for the four army aviators whose next port of their round-the-world flight will carry them out of the United States.

The four airmen will leave Sand Point Aviation Field near Seattle Sunday or Monday for the British Columbia stopping place.

Work of transforming the airplanes into seaplanes will be accomplished today or tomorrow.

At a ceremony the four giant Douglas machines will be christened Seattle, Boston, New Orleans and Chicago.

Defeats Champ Clark's Daughter

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—J. Zack Spearling of New Orleans, past president of the American Bar Association, was nominated in yesterday's Democratic primary to succeed the late Representative H. Garland Dupre, of the Second Congressional District, defeating Genevieve Clark Thompson, daughter of the late Clark Clark, of Missouri, and T. S. Wamsley, assistant attorney general. Mrs. Thompson was the first woman in Louisiana to run for a congressional seat.

The returns with one small precinct tabulated by the Times-Picayune, were: Spearling, 16,755; Thompson, 12,745; Wamsley, 2,624.

Democratic nomination in Louisiana is equivalent to election.

SEEK HALF INTEREST
WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Santa Fe Railroad Company asked the interstate commerce commission permission today to acquire one-half interest in a branch line of the Southern Pacific extending from Mendenhall to Arvin, California.

W O M A N MURDERED BY YOUTHFUL MOTORIST Roxie Stinson Continues Giving New Evidence

NEW YORK, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Although twenty detectives worked on the case through-out the night, no clue had been found early today to the youthful motorist who last night assaulted and murdered Mrs. Maude Bauer, thirty-five, on a lonely road several miles from her home on Staten Island.

Mrs. Bauer's mother and her two little children were several hundred yards from the spot where the crime was committed, but heard no sound. The woman was shot in the abdomen, stabbed in the throat and struck on the jaw.

The youth drove up in a sedan and offered to assist Mrs. Bauer, whose car had stuck in a mud puddle into which she had driven to avoid colliding with a truck. Mrs. Bauer accepted an invitation to be driven to a nearby house to obtain a rope so that her car could be pulled out.

Half an hour later the youth drove by Mrs. Mary Pera, Mrs. Bauer's mother, at a furious pace. Suspicious, she walked down the road and came upon the body of her daughter.

The young woman's husband recently left for Detroit to work as an automobile mechanic.

Charges Oil Men Plunder Treasury

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—American oil men are annually plundering the treasury of millions of dollars by escaping through loopholes in the tax laws that permit them to charge oil huge sums against depreciation of their property. Senator King, Utah, member of the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, declared in a statement: here today.

Southern Buys Much Equipment

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Ten million dollars worth of equipment, including 25 locomotives, 50 steel passenger cars, 4,250 freight cars, have been purchased by the Southern Railway for delivery in the next few months.

Woman Veteran In Crime Held Up By Young Bandits

DETROIT, MICH., March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Three nattily dressed youths held up a little lunch room here last night, showed a woman, the only person in the place except the proprietor, under the table and escaped with $50 and the proprietor's watch. The woman, roughly brushed aside by the youthful bandits was Sophie Lyons Burke, former famous confidence woman, and a member of a bank robbery gang which ranged the world in its hunt for loot.

Mrs. Burke, who has served innumerable prison sentences, lived as the wife of two famous criminals and was a member of a gang which police say obtained $2,000,000 in one theft from the Manhattan Bank in New York, expressed sympathy for the three youthful bandits and their petty lunch room holdup after the robbery.

"Those poor deluded boys," Mrs. Burke said, afterward, "I pity them so. If I could talk to them for five minutes I know I could make them see that crime never will pay. 'I've proved that in my own life.'"

Must Park Walking Sticks Outside Theatre

BERLIN, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Walking sticks are prohibited in Berlin movie theatres. They must be checked at the door and the fee amounts to 10 or 15 cents. An American film fan who bought a cane for fifty cents last fall before the market became stabilized and things were fairly reasonable for persons with foreign currency, has estimated that his stick this winter in checking charges alone, has cost him $6.

Idaho for Coolidge

LEWISTON, IDAHO, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Idaho is in the Coolidge column. The Republican state convention pledged its eleven delegates to the Cleveland convention to vote for nomination of the president.

Endorsements given by the state convention were confined chiefly to approval of the state and national administration.

BRITISH FLYERS COMPLETE FIRST LEG

LYONS, FRANCE, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The British round-the-world flyers arrived here today in their Napier-Vicker-Amphibian plane completing the first leg of their journey, which was interrupted by fog yesterday.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A hint of an oil deal in which "five men made $33,000,000" in the fall of 1922 was brought before the Daugherty investigating committee today by Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the attorney general's friend and political lieutenant, Jesse W. Smith.

The witness said Smith had told her of such a deal and that she understood it had to do with stock in the Sinclair interests which on April 7, 1922, leased Teapot Dome. She added that Smith had said he and the attorney general were "sore" because the men who made the money were friends of theirs but did not let them in on the deal. She could not name them.

Fitting reference to the $33,000,000 affair was made amidst a session which otherwise lacked much of the momentum of Miss Stinson's previous appearance as a star witness in the inquiry. Senator Wheeler of Montana, the committee prosecutor was kept at home with a cold and the examination for the most part proceeded quite peacefully.

The witness said at the outset that she wished to disclaim any previous intimations in testimony that she had thought Smith met his death by any hand except his own. She was convinced he killed himself but believed Mr. Daugherty "morally responsible" for his determination to kill himself.

When he came to Washington, Miss Stinson said, Smith was worth some $150,000, but when he was found dead in the attorney general's apartment last Memorial Day an inventory of his property showed a total valuation of $214,000. Asked whether she thought there were other items omitted from the inventory she said she would rather not reply.

She replied in a negative when asked by Senator Asst. Democrat, whether she knew that a note was found in Smith's pocket after his death and never was turned over to the authorities.

A good part of the session was taken up with the reading of letters Smith had written on the attorney general's department of justice stationery. They referred largely to personal matters. (Continued On Page Seven)

New Expedition To North Pole

LONDON, March 26.—(By the Associated Press)—A projected new expedition to the North Pole is reported. The Westminster Gazette says a young Icelandic, Grettir Algrasson, is starting for the Arctic arctic in May on a preliminary trip to Nova Zembla and Franz Josef Land.

Algrasson proposes to spend six months exploring Nova Zembla and Franz Josef Land, ending his trip in New York in October. The party will number ten, including three scientists. The traveler Belta, is now being fitted at Shorham and shortly will be brought to the Thames.

The expedition is a prelude to another in 1925 under Algrasson's leadership, the objective of which will be the pole.

Billy Butt-In THE TIMES WEATHER MAN

You can't blame the public for being grouchy when the weather's the same way here for tomorrow:

OHIO—Slightly cloudy tonight and Thursday. Warner Thursday.

KENTUCKY—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday. Slightly cooler.

The extremes in local temperature today were: High, 50; low, 41.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Mellon plan has not been inserted in the revenue bill by the Senate Finance Committee as was stated in some published reports last night. Instead, one of the principal recommendations made by the Secretary of the Treasury has been temporarily, at least, turned down. It relates to earned incomes and affects more individuals than the other parts of the Mellon plan which were passed.

What the Senate Finance Committee took a vote of 5 to 7, was to adopt the Mellon plan on the surtaxes above a 25 per cent schedule as a maximum instead of the Longworth bill passed by the House providing for a 37.12 per cent maximum.

But the Mellon plan itself as originally recommended was a carefully balanced compromise. (Continued on Page Three)

National Exchange Clubs May Back A. B. C. Drive

A movement to have the Exchange Clubs of the United States foster the A. B. C. Safety campaign as a national movement will be launched by the Portsmouth club, which backed the local safety drive, it was stated last night.

The local club has prepared a folder showing the operation of the campaign, and outlining the benefit to the community and to the Scouts who are serving in the drive. This folder, with illustrations will be presented to the national Exchange organization, with the suggestion that it be pushed in every city where an Exchange Club is established.

Tonight's meeting of the Exchange club will see this matter brought before the members, and a discussion of the recent trip to Jackson is also on the program. Cleo De Bruin, evangelist singer who is assisting in meetings at the Second Presbyterian church, will sing.

St. Mary's Debate Thursday Night

Representatives of the Senior and Junior classes of Holy Redeemer High School will meet in a debate tomorrow evening at eight o'clock, in the

SOCIETY

The Foreign Missionary Society of Mainly church held a splendid meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. O. McClung, 1330 Twelfth street. Devotional services were led by Mrs. Harry E. Blazer, and a reading was given by Mrs. J. W. Jordan, and plans were made for an entertainment to be given in April. After the business session a delightful social hour was held, during which a delectable refreshment course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Bieley, Mrs. Harry Anderson and Mrs. Ethel Matson, to the following members and guests:

Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Cross, Mrs. Harry E. Blazer, Mrs. Annon Clark, Mrs. Ben Stewart, Mrs. Floyd Kemp, Mrs. Frank Geiger, Jr., Mrs. Henry Burton, Mrs. A. F. Leightner, Mrs. J. W. Jordan, Mrs. Frank Jordan, Mrs. Edward Brady, Mrs. Joseph L. Kountz, Mrs. A. F. Cyfers, Mrs. Ralph Brady, Mrs. William Bieley, Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. A. O. McClung and Mrs. Ethel Matson and Master George Jordan. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Lockhart, 2023 Seventh street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Presbyterian church will hold their regular social tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Kate Stumm, 418 Third street. A full attendance is urged.

Miss Amelia Jeffords of Cincinnati is visiting her mother, Mrs. George Jeffords, of Third street, and other relatives in the city.

Miss Cora Swabby, who has been ill for the past few weeks with a nervous breakdown, left this afternoon for Columbus, where she will visit for a few days before going to Mariusville for a several weeks' sojourn. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. William Swabby, of Highland avenue.

The Liberty Class of Mainly church will serve a lunch in the basement of the church tomorrow from 11 until 1 o'clock.

Miss Louise Laury and Joe Allen have returned to their home in Ashland, Ky., after a few days' visit with relatives in this city.

The members of the M. E. F. club met at the home of Miss Opal Crawford, 1811 Seventh street, last evening. After the business session they were delightfully entertained by Mr. Virgil Jones, Portsmouth's own Magician. With his well and single and he changed swiftness into delicious candy, together with several other mysterious stunts. The remainder of the evening was spent in social chat and needle-work, at the close of which the hostess was assisted by Master Paul Jones in serving a dainty salad course to the following:

Misses Georgia Smith, Madeline Morris, Helen Clark, Hazel Miller, Gladys McClain, Mrs. Mary Mitchell and Mrs. Mae Sisler.

Friends of Miss Myra Allen and Mr. Walter E. Lewis will be surprised to learn of their marriage, which took place in Catlettsburg, Ky., on Saturday, March 15th. The ceremony was solemnized in the parlors of the First Christian church, by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Mastely, officiating with the single ring service. The attendants were Miss Jennette Bibbey of this city and Mr. William Roth of Friendship.

The bride, who is an attractive young girl, was lovely in a handsome gown of white satin, her flowing veil of the bride held in place with tapers of orange blossoms. An arm bouquet of orange blossoms and valley lilies completed her beautiful costume.

Miss Bibbey looked charming in a smart afternoon gown of beige georgette with accessories of blue, and carried an arm bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride party returned to this city, but did not announce their marriage to their friends until today. Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen of Front street, while the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis of New Boston and is employed at the Portsmouth Works, Wheeling Steel Corporation.

Group 3 of the Eastern Stars will give a chicken pie supper on Thursday evening, April 10th, from 7:30 o'clock to 7:45 o'clock, in their hall in the Masonic Temple. The menu will include chicken pie, mashed potatoes, peas, slaw, home-made jelly, bread, butter, hot coffee, punch with whipped cream and cake. The price will be sixty cents and the general public is cordially invited to attend.

A Box Social will be held by the A. F. U. at their hall, Third and Washington streets, Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

The What-So-Ever Guild of All Saints' church will hold an afternoon session tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marion French, 113 Third street, when the time will be spent in Lenten sewing for the Bureau of Community Service.

The regular business and social meeting of the Trinity Ladies' Aid was held in the basement of the church Tuesday afternoon, with a large attendance. Mrs. James Williams had charge of the devotional, reading for the scripture lesson, the 13th chapter of St. John, followed with a very inspiring and helpful talk. Dr. W. H. Smith was the main speaker of the afternoon, outlining the plans for the new Community House Trinity will erect in the near future. After this several of the ladies gave very good talks on the need of such a building for the young people.

The society voted to pay $14,000 on the improvements, including a new pipe organ, which will be installed at once. $3,500 of the pledge has already been raised.

The ladies will serve another of their popular chicken suppers on Friday evening, April 11th.

After the business a social hour was enjoyed, at which time Group 3 served light refreshments.

Inspected Lodge
WELLSTON, March 26.—William J. Meyer, of Portsmouth, district deputy of the B. P. O. Elks, was the guest of honor of Wellston Lodge of Elks last evening and made inspection of the local lodge. ### KIWANIANS HEAR REAL ORCHESTRA THEN HOLD INITIATORY EXERCISES

The Trinity Bible School orchestra, one of the finest musical organizations in this part of the country, entertained the Kiwanis Club at the Wednesday noon luncheon held at the Mary Louise. Miss Alice Blake and her musicians rendered several selections—in fact the orchestra gave a regular concert, and at the conclusion of the program every Kiwanian voted for the organization to come back and make it soon. The orchestra is composed of real artists—musicians of high calibre and the entertainment provided made the meeting one of the best in the history of the club.

The initiatory exercise in the hands of Roger Selby and with Charles Wurnock of the Warnock Electric Co., as the victim, was a scream from start to finish. Mr. Wurnock admitted after the proceedings that he had passed through the most strenuous quarter hour of his life and was really elated when the festivities came to an end and he found himself a full fledged Kiwanian. He will be exhibiting scars to his intimate friends for some time to come, but he got there just the same and promises to become one of the most active Kiwanians in the city. The new program committee, which started functioning when President Appel dropped the gavel, announced that on next Wednesday, W. B. Altman and William Hazlebeck would talk along educational lines. Their talks will be vital messages, having to do with the local public schools and it is hoped every Kiwanian in the city will be present. The attendance Wednesday was 90 per cent, which showed the interest in the activities of the club.

To Arrange for Alfalfa Demonstrations

L. D. BIBLE CLASS TO MEET

Meeting at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Manley, 1662 Grant street Thursday evening 7:30 to 9 o'clock. The Loyal Daughters Bible Class of the First Christian Church will hold their regular monthly business and social session. This meeting was to have been held on the third Thursday of the month at the Home For Aged Women, but on account of some repairs being made at the Home it had to be called off and was postponed until Thursday of this week.

The program of business for the evening will be in charge of the president, Mrs. A. P. Haight, the social hour will have Mrs. Carl Cunningham in charge, while the refreshments will be looked after by Mrs. P. L. Manley and her assistants.

A special invitation is given always to former members of the class whose names are carried on the "Honor Roll."

Mrs. Richard Barry has given option on her property at 940 Gallia street and it may be exercised within several days. The dimensions of the lot are 30 by 181.

Getting State Aid
Clerks of the various township and village boards of education are calling at the office of County School Superintendent E. O. McCowan to make out their final application for state aid for this school year. Two payments have already been made by the state and the final quota of the maximum amount allowed is now being applied for. Clay township is behind in receiving its payments, the first one for $6,000 being received a few days ago.

Kept Awake By Nervous Heart

Many people are often kept awake for hours at night by a peculiar nervous feeling in the heart region. Sometimes the distress begins as soon as you lie down, but occasionally you are awakened out of a sound sleep by the heart fluttering or pounding. Such an attack may be accompanied by extreme nervousness or a terrible feeling of oppression. Perhaps you struggle and gasp for breath, wondering if each moment is your last on earth.

Lions' Club Names Temporary Officers

Temporary directors of the newly organized Lions Club have elected the following temporary officers, announced yesterday.

President, Fred A. Klingman.
Secretary, Oscar P. McClure.
Treasurer, Morton Shumway.
First vice president, Earl Hannah.
Second vice president, John H. Williams.
Third vice president, William E. Crichton.
Lion Tamer, Thos. Ashmun.
Assistant Lion Tamer, Gilbert Kendall.
Tail Twister, Earl A. Dixon.
Assistant Tail Twister, Dr. Angus Adams.

These officers with the temporary directors, elected at the organization meeting Monday evening will serve until a permanent organization is effected.

The charter meeting of the new luncheon club will be held in about a month, with delegations here from Cincinnati, Ashland, Huntington and Zanesville clubs, as well as clubs now being organized in Chillicothe and Zanesville.

The next regular meeting of the local club will be held Monday evening.

Last Services In Old Church Sunday

Members of Pleasant Green Baptist church will hold their last service in the old church next Sunday. Every member should be present at all services as a parting tribute of memory to the old church that has been the fountain of life to our people for more than half a century. Beginning at 9:30 a. m. the Sunday School should break all records for attendance and a special message will be presented to the members of the women's class which on last Sunday was the largest in many years but are hopeful of exceeding that number this Sunday. The Sunday School in general under the direction of Prof. E. M. Gentry as superintendent, has exceeded all records in attendance and interest the past two months.

Rev. H. R. Reed, pastor, will preach his last sermon at eleven o'clock Sunday morning and we can not hope for a more spiritual sermon and service than we had last Sunday. At the evening service at 7:30 the ladies will have charge of the service with Mrs. Nettie Williams and Mrs. Essie Duncan as leaders. Special songs, favorites of some of the old members, who have passed to the Great Beyond, will be sung, and a special program will be given. We especially urge the older members of the church to lay aside home duties for the day and attend all services and the members of the church attend all services and the mothers of the church are urged particularly to be present at the Sunday School service. Everybody invited to these services so be early so you can get a seat. —Committee.

Program for Thursday night in charge of Mrs. Lila Johnson under the auspices of the Progressive Club will be a "Womanless Wedding" and everybody is invited to see this unique affair.

Joseph Collins, President.

Senate

ancient scheme. Wealth was to be given certain reductions but coupled with those were reductions to the tax payers of small income. The Senate Finance Committee has given the wealthy investor the reductions wanted, but has deprived the man of small income who earns his livelihood without capital and with only the energy of his hands or his mind the concessions proposed by Secretary Mellon.

The House ignored the Mellon recommendation for a flat 25 per cent reduction on all earned incomes and said it should apply only to incomes below $20,000 a year. The Senate Finance Committee, despite Mr. Mellon's advice, has cut it still further to $10,000.

"There is, of course, absolutely no reason," Mr. Mellon told the Senate Finance Committee, for a $20,000 limitation on earned income. If the distinction between unearned income and earned income is good, it is good in every bracket. If the tax on unearned incomes in excess of $20,000 is at the proper rate, then the same rate is too high for earned income."

Stated in another way, what Mr. Mellon means, was that a man who earned $20,000 as a doctor, lawyer, salesman, business executive, music composer, inventor or any profession in which brains are the sole capital used, he should not be in the same position as a man of inherited or accumulated capital who clips investment coupons and gets an income of $20,000. People in the latter class, for instance, have approximately $350,000 of capital, which at 6 per cent, earns for them about $21,000 a year. They pay the same rate of taxes as the professional man yet when he is sick his income stops and when he dies he can not bequeath his law practice or his medical ability to another though the man with the capital can go away from his place of business and spend a life of leisure and still draw the same income. He can bequeath it to another person when he dies. Technically he doesn't earn his income in the same sense as the person who works with his mind or his hands.

Mr. Mellon says that, if the Senate thinks the rate of taxation for a man of $20,000 income is fixed at a certain rate, then the man with the other kind of income should not have the same advantage.

Mr. Mellon incidentally has agreed that all incomes below $5,000 should be considered as "earned" so that widows and orphans and others who may be unable to earn a livelihood shall not be penalized. Five thousand dollars is the average income on an estate of approximately $85,000.

The House bill further complicated matters by providing that the definition of "earned income" should include cases where the income is the result of the use of capital in connection with personal services, and amount representing a reasonable salary for personal services rendered. Mr. Mellon criticizes that provision thus:

"The Treasury Department for the years of excess profits taxes experienced the greatest administrative difficulties in determining what was a reasonable salary in cases of closely-owned corporations. The present definition means that, in every case where there is any personal service whatever, the deputation should be determining a reasonable salary for those particular services. This would bring up for determination by the department several hundred thousand separate cases each year, and you can easily understand the difficulties the department will have in administering such a law."

Mr. Mellon might have added something about the difficulties of the taxpayers who would have to journey to Washington or hire lawyers to prove to the Government what is and what is not a reasonable salary with the consequent result that it will be cheaper to accept injustice than to pay the expense of obtaining justice.

The Senate Finance Committee's action is, of course, not final and there are indications that the whole matter of rates will be opened up again before the revenue bill is reported. Persons who earn their incomes, however, have thus far been given less favorable treatment by the House than Secretary Mellon recommended and the Senate Committee has carried the discrimination against earned incomes still further.

Gentlemen:

Do us the kindness to accept this new-type Shaving Cream

By V. K. CASSADY, Chief Chemist

Here is a Shaving Cream which has delighted millions. It was created in a laboratory with 60 years' experience in soap making.

It was perfected by men who have developed some of the greatest soaps in the world.

It is based on men's ideals as told us by 1,000 average men. It is the final result of making and testing 130 separate formulas. In five great ways it far exceeds any Shaving Cream you know.

It has become a sensation. It has induced millions of men, in the past three years, to quit former shaving methods. If you are an average man with normal wants, this Shaving Cream will please you.

Five new effects

Palmolive Shaving Cream is unique in five respects.

- 1—It multiplies itself in lather 250 times. So a tiny bit suffices for a shave.
- 2—It softens the beard in one minute, so it does not keep you waiting.
- 3—The lather maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face. It does not need replacing.
- 4—The extra-strong bubbles hold the hairs erect for cutting. So they don't lie down.
- 5—The palm and olive oil blend brings fine after effects. So you do not need a lotion.

To add the final touch to shaving luxury, we have created Palmolive After Shaving Talc—especially for men. Doesn't show. Leaves the skin smooth and fresh, and gives that well-groomed look. Try the sample we are sending free with the tube of Shaving Cream.

There are new delights here for every man who shaves. Please let us prove them to you.

In fairness to yourself and us, send the coupon for a test. Clip it now, so you won't forget.

for power plant improvement

¶ In round figures, $500,000.00 will be the cost of the improvements now being made at our power plant.

¶ These improvements were started by the former owners of the property. Almost $200,000.00 had been invested in this step for better service when we took over the property. The remaining $300,000.00 will, of course, be invested by the new owners and it is expected that the work will be completed during the coming summer.

¶ Just stop to think how much money $500,000.00 really is. If you had $500,000.00 all in ten dollar bills and beginning at end of our street car line at Massie Street, you placed these bills end to end, along the car track and continued until you reached the end of the car line at Park Street, New Boston, you would still have money enough left to buy a home, furnish it completely, purchase an automobile and still have some money left to start a bank account.

¶ Completion of these power plant improvements is only one of the several things we must do to insure you adequate and dependable electric light, power and street railway service.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly: After reading so many letters about dissatisfied wives and husbands I thought I would write and tell you a little story about a couple that I know, or rather know about. Dolly, what do you think of a woman who will run away with another and leave her little children? Isn't there a law that will bring a woman like that to naught? If there isn't the law is not worth a stuff. I have heard of such cases but I have never heard of an officer going after the women and bringing them back to face the charge. Are the men who enforce the laws to blame for this? A woman can stand up and give her husband a blow in the face that will knock him sick, and then if he tries to correct himself they will say that they will "get the law on him" and he is afraid to lay his hands on her. I happen to know a woman who not long ago broke a glass over her husband's head, and she took it like a gentleman. If he had given her such a blow what would have happened? She would have "got the law on him." They uphold the woman, no matter how crooked she is. They roused and fumed around until they got equal rights with men. Now they have part of them, and I say give them all the rights and let them take what is coming to them just like men. If a woman breaks a rolling pin over her husband's head, I am in favor of her breaking a chair over her head—let them give and take. I know so many hard working men, who have crooked wives who get into all kinds of mischief while their husbands are at work that I am thoroughly disgusted with all of them. Dolly, they will go joy riding on lonely country roads and even get arrested and let off easy, and the poor man has to suffer. Now let's hear from you about these women.

A MERE MAN
You've said enough, without me adding fuel to the flames. However, I will say that you have been rather unfortunate in getting in with the wrong class of people. There are bad women in the world, I'll admit, but I think there are just as many good ones to every bad one. I think the majority of those who are bad would rather be good, but they are weak, and when tempted they fall. Then too, I think an environment has something to do with their downfall. If the weak ones are kept away from temptation, they will get by all right, but so long as they have to live with bad people it is impossible to make them good. It takes two to make a quarrel, and when a husband and wife come to blows, one is as much to blame as the other. Knowing each other's weaknesses, one of them should try to be calm while the other raves on. The one who takes it all that time can have their little say when the other one gets over it. There is method even in madness.

Dear Dolly—What do you think of a man who has not kissed his wife in 15 years and yet she lives with him? He goes away and stays for five months at a time, and she does not know where he is. Dolly, while he was away on one of these jaunts his wife took sick and had to go to the hospital. She has to do all kinds of work to keep herself and child. She never has any kind of amusement and never gets to go to a picture show or anywhere else for pleasure. He tells her she is a headache, and makes all kind of fun of her, until she feels ashamed to go anywhere. Now, Dolly, a dear kind answer will be appreciated.

LONELY LADY
If I had a husband like the one you describe, I would not kiss him on a bet. Another thing if he would go away and stay for five months without telling me where he was going he wouldn't get a chance to come back. This man's wife is too easy. If she is making the living for herself and child she does not have to take any of her husband's back talk. I think it is about time she would get busy and give him a piece of her mind. If a wife lets her husband run over and abuse her, she has no one to blame but herself. If he refuses to support his wife she should file charges against him and make him support her.

Dear Dolly—Would a polo cape be nice for this spring and summer or would you advise a coat?

MRS. L. W.
I would advise a coat or suit, either in the checked sport models or the plain tailored in the tan or dark blue.

Dear Dolly—I want you to help me as I am in a awful lot of trouble. Dolly there is an ugly man with a mustache wanting to marry me and I don't want him. He is 30 years of age and is considered quite wealthy. He owns property here and in Cincinnati and has two automobiles. He gives me nice presents and lets me use one of his automobiles when he is out of town. When I get his machine I take a boy of 18 whom I like real well out riding. I forgot to tell you that I was only 16 years of age. Dolly, my mother is dead and if I marry this man I won't have to go to school any more, and I don't like to go to school. He also says he will keep a hired girl and I won't have to do any work. I thank you for your advice as I hate to ask my daddy.

SWEET SIXTEEN
One might be tempted to marry a rich old man with a hacking cough and one foot in the grave, but the one you have in mind is too old to live with and too young to pass on and leave you his money and automobiles in everything. So I would advise you to wait for the young man. Tell the old flapper if he wants to adopt a baby to go out to the Children's Home and get one, as you have decided that you are old enough to marry a man of your own age.

Mrs. Mary Roberts and daughter, Mrs. Ira W. See, of Louisa, Ky., are visiting the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roberts of 918 Eighth street.

The lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Moutch, near Carey, Ky., was the scene of a pleasant gathering recently when they entertained a group of relatives and friends for an evening of cards, music and dancing. A sumptuous goose and duck dinner was served at six o'clock, with covers laid for the following guests:

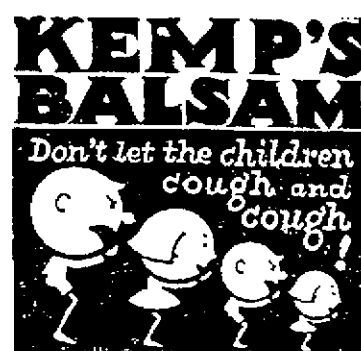

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hildreth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durrough, Mr. and Mrs. George Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vance, Mrs. Lena Bierley, Misses Nell and Maud Bierley, Maud Scott, Axie Stout, Messrs. James Scott, Fred Bierley, Harry Bierley, Capt. James Rose and Mrs. William Hogan and Mr. and Mrs. William Moutch.

Guests from distance included Miss Anna Bierley, Charles W. Bierley, Harold Bierley, Miss Millie Sullivan, Pearl Cranston and James Gower, all of this city; Miss Anna Sullivan of Buena Vista, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and son Kenneth of Garrison, Ky., Lewis McDaniel of Rome, Ohio.

Mrs. John Tackett and daughter Dolly of Big Sandy, Ky., are visiting relatives here and at Buena Vista.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper of Rocktown visited in Portsmouth Tuesday.

Mrs. Harry D. Easter and sons Harold and Edward of Fourth and Jefferson streets are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Log Hazel, of Buena Vista.

Irene Stone, Portsmouth's premier juvenile reader, will give a recital at the First Christian church tomorrow (Thursday) evening, to which the general public is invited. Miss Stone has delighted thousands of people with her cleverness, and according to those who know, is destined to become a reader of world renown. The recital, to which an admission of 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be charged, will be under the auspices of the Loyal Knippers' class and Beginners' department. It will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock, and lasting from the interest that has been displayed, will be greeted by a packed house. The following is the program:

Patriotic Patriotic—American. Selected—(a) "Taint' Nuthin' to Laugh At," (b) Little Orphan Annie; (c) When Company Comes—Irene Stone. Vocal Duet—Silver Threads Among the Gold—Janette Warren and Harold Cunningham. Dramatic Selection—"The White Lily"—Irene Stone. Cradle Concert—Beginners. ## ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

The patent-leather cat, rubber dog and wooden duck were arguing.

"Oh, dear," said the mupkin rabbit, "Doofunny Land would be a grand place if it were not for that dreadful rubber dog!"

"And I think that it would be a fine place if it were not for that awful cat," squeaked the little tin house. "Every time I move I seem to run into him, and he has such terrible eyes and long spiky whiskers. I get paralyzed with fright, so I do."

"If you want to know what real trouble is," croaked a hoarse voice, "just look at me. I am still shivering. I just hopped past that old wooden wattle duck and he snapped at me with his old scissor bill. I thought when I came to Doofunny Land that I should be safe. But it seems that I am mistaken. Ducks are far, far fiercer than dogs and cats," said the puffy cotton frog.

Miss Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man, turned to the Twins.

"Do you hear that?" he said. "It's time I was putting an end to all this nonsense. If Doofunny can't be a peaceful place—what is the use of it? I'd like to know?"

"Yes, I should like to know, too," agreed Nancy. "The Fairy Queen told us that Doofunny Land was a funny place."

"And so it should be—the merriest place in all Fairland. Come! I have an idea. What's the name for the goose is sauce for the gander."

The Twins followed him, and by and by he came to the place where the teddy-bear was.

"Buzzy, Mister Bear?" asked Miss Fuzz Wuzz.

"Sup," said the bear. "Not doing a thing."

"Well, then," said the little man.

Finally his feet touched ground and he discovered he was right in a bear's home. A big brown was snuggled down right near where Jack and the tube had stretched to. Instantly the bear jumped up and started for Jack. Of course, this scared the little adventurer terribly. (Continued.)

When a Lady Leaves

Mrs. John M. Hoover, who underwent an operation in Mercy Hospital three weeks ago, is getting along nicely at her home on Highland avenue.

Mrs. A. B. Cullinan and son Richard of Greenup, Ky., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cress of Eighteenth street.

Thirty-three members of the Assured Class of Bigelow church attended the meeting held on Tuesday afternoon at the hospitable home of Mrs. Al Windel on Offshore street. During the business session it was announced that $25 in money had been collected to be sent to the Worthington Methodist Home. In addition to the box that was packed to be sent to the home for Easter, after the business was disposed of the following enjoyable program was presented:

Talk on the Worthington Home—Mrs. J. M. Graham. Vocal Duet—Mrs. J. C. Sears and Mrs. Harry E. Bright. Recitation—Mrs. John Rottinghaus. Talk on Our Flag—Mrs. Cornelia B. Tronhardt. Recitation—Mrs. William H. Doerr.

During the social hour which followed a light refreshment course was served by Mrs. Windel and her assistant hostesses, Mrs. Cornelia B. Tronhardt, Mrs. W. H. Fowler, Mrs. E. C. Jackson, Mrs. Henry Kugelmann and Mrs. M. Blum.

The Knifclub will be entertained today for the day at the home of Mrs. William Shauer of Sciotoville.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — THE MAGIC TUBE

As the water dripped down off the tube and it started to dry, Jack found if he might sit inside the tube and swing. "Why, sure, you won't fall," replied the circle of rubber. So Jack seated himself and started bounding up and down. And then the tube started to stretch.

Jack swung back and forth and just as he was swinging way out over the side of a little drop in the mountain the tube suddenly let him down. "I'm just tired out," explained the tube, "and I can't hold you up." So Jack kept slipping downward as he sat snug inside the tube.

Finally his feet touched ground and he discovered he was right in a bear's home. A big brown was snuggled down right near where Jack and the tube had stretched to. Instantly the bear jumped up and started for Jack. Of course, this scared the little adventurer terribly. (Continued.)

Auctioneers Give Version Of Training Camp Sales

CHILLICOTHE, O., Mar. 26.—Despite the sensational charges made by Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky, who declared in a speech before the House that auctioneers employed by the government to sell war supplies had made an enormous amount of money it was revealed Monday that in many instances the auctioneers had lost money.

In his speech Mr. Johnson said that A. T. Sweepston, of this city, had been one of the auctioneers who had received many thousands of dollars for the effort.

An interview with Donald Sweepston, now sheriff of Ross county, member of the firm of A. T. Sweepston and Sons, revealed that contrary to the charges made against these army-supply auctioneers they had lost money on many sales. When it is remembered that the firm of A. T. Sweepston and Sons is rated as one of the leading auctioning firms of the country the statements made by Mr. Sweepston are very interesting.

According to him the firm handled twelve large army sales, the largest amounting to well over a million dollars while the smallest was about $20,000. All sales have been conducted on a sliding scale of percentages and the amount of money obtained by the auctioneer greatly determines the compensation he is to receive. The old saying about Uncle Sam being a good collector but a poor paymaster, held true following these sales for, according to Mr. Sweepston, he was forced to wait over a year for commission on a sale.

AMERICA LACKING IN LEADERS, SAYS O. S. U. PRESIDENT

CLEVELAND, March 26.—(By the A. P.)—The American public needs an evangelist to lead it out of a wilderness of confused issues, Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, declared in an address on "public sentiment" here today.

"There is so much irresponsible public sentiment it is hard to pick up," Dr. Thompson said. "There is a lack of leadership today that was evident in the last century. In my day, discussions on the college campuses were of what young men expected to be. Today the talk is about what they hope to gain financially."

"We are drifting in religion, politics and business. Religious men are squabbling over non-essentials. We have many leaders who do not know where we are going or where they are trying to lead us."

"America needs leaders who can sift the issues and put into better words than the public can the public's own forward looking desires."

POLITICAL LEADERS AND OFFICIALS ARE ACCUSED OF GRAFT

NEW YORK, March 26.—(By the A. P.)—Testimony involving New Jersey officials and political leaders in bootleg graft and corruption today was given by William E. Dunigan, special prohibition agent, in the trial of J. Harry Foley, New Jersey state superintendent of weights and measures, once secretary to Governor Edwards, Major Herbert Katz and the Patterson Brewing & Malting company of which Katz is an officer.

The defendants are charged with bribery and conspiracy to bribe Dunigan and Stuart Grill, another agent to permit brewing of beer and conversion of industrial alcohol into whiskey in New England and prevent the entrance into New York or New England, of Pennsylvania brewed beer.

Dunigan's story, alleged to have been told him and Grill by Foley and Katz at various conferences in New York, quote the defendants as mentioning United States Senators Edwards and Edge, New Jersey Prohibition Director Chamberlain and a Mr. Johnson of Atlantic City, said to be the political leader of South New Jersey.

SAYS 20 PLOTTED TO EXACT RANSOM FROM EDELL FORD

DETROIT, March 26.—(By the A. P.)—Robert M. Toms, prosecuting attorney, today recommended a warrant charging malicious threats to extort in the case of Wavov Simek, under arrest in connection with three letters which were alleged to have made a demand of $1,000,000 from Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company. Mrs. Annie Hladik, arrested with Simek yesterday, was released.

According to the police, Simek confessed that he met with a group of about twenty radicals and a plan was concocted to obtain money from Ford. He was elected to write the letters, he is reported to have said, and it was arranged that the blame was to be placed on Mrs. Hladik.

"People's Party" Picks Candidate

Without His Knowledge; He Won't Run

LANSING, MICH., March 25.—(By The A. P.)—The people's progressive party, in its first state convention here, named a complete slate of candidates for state officers today. Tonight, however, it was without a standard bearer to lead the ticket.

Without his knowledge the convention nominated Herman H. Halladay, secretary of the Michigan Agricultural College, as its candidate for governor. He had been nominated, but he immediately declined. The state central committee will select a man to lead the ticket.

The convention, originally scheduled for a two days' meeting, dwindled to a single day. About thirty delegates were present. Robert D. Pointer of Dearborn, original Henry Ford booster and now the party's candidate for president, turned the convention into more or less of a eulogy for Ford.

The convention affirmed the national platform demanding the repeal of the federal reserve bank act, the immediate payment of a cash soldier's bonus, employment on public works during times of depression, the repeal of the Esch-Cummings act and equal rights for women in every regard.

Coolidge Moves to Conserve Oil

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(By The A. P.)—Appointment of a commission to ascertain the best means of conserving the nation's oil supply was announced today by President Coolidge. The commission will be entrusted with review of the situation in each of the naval oil reserves and with ascertaining whether it would be possible by assignment or additional public lands transfers, trunks, purchases or otherwise to create larger or better protected reserves than the present ones.

Action was taken by the president in the appointment of the commission on the recommendation of the general board of the navy.

The commission will consist of Geo. Otis Smith, director of the geological survey; Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, U. S. N., president of the general board of the navy; and R. D. Bush, of the bureau of mineralogy of the state of California.

MISS ALIAS

BY DOUGLAS GRANT

© 1924 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Sallie Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweetheart, Michael Curtis. That night a storm comes up and Sallie volunteers to take down a washing left out that night by Ma Brennan, with whom Sallie lives. As the girl starts down the yard, a crash shakes the earth and something strikes her a blow on the head.

When Sallie regains consciousness she finds herself in strange surroundings, richly furnished. She is waited upon by a French maid who calls her Mademoiselle Alva and tells her that her mother will be in shortly to see her. When Mademoiselle appears she kisses Sallie and tells her that she was injured in a train wreck and that Cousin Wheeler saved her life.

Madame Copeland tells Sallie she is being cared for by Dr. Quallers.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
While she stood there with the warm sunshine streaming in upon her face and turning her hair to spun gold, a faint cawing sound along the dirt road beyond the wall on a beautiful bay horse and Sallie gazed admiringly at both mount and rider until she realized that the latter was staring fixedly up at her direction, apparently straight at her window.

She dropped the curtain but through its folds her eyes followed him and just before he disappeared into a clump of trees he turned in his saddle and lifted one arm. He didn't exactly wave but it looked like a sort of signal, nevertheless.

Sallie turned just as the door opened and Theresa hurried in.

"Why are you out of bed?" she demanded sharply. The change from the darkness of her former chamber was unmistakable and Sallie lifted her eyebrows.

"What's the idea?" she retorted.

"I guess I can look out the window if I want to, Theresa."

"The mention of her name brought a quick flush to the woman's cheek.

"But mademoiselle must not rise until the doctor has come!" Her tone was respectful enough now, yet insistent. "You see, Miss Alva! It was not wise!"

For Sallie's treacherous knees had begun to give way beneath her and she was forced to reach out to a chair-back for support. She permitted Theresa to lead her to bed and adjust the covers about her, then closed her eyes wearily, indifferent to the maid's departure.

That sudden flash of authority had revealed to her the difficulties of her predicament and she couldn't afford to waste any time worrying about it. Folks didn't go around adopting strange girls out of railroad wrecks for nothing and the fact that Mrs. Copeland was so undeniably the real thing showed that she must be pretty desperate herself to take such a risk.

For some reason Sallie was to be pained off on somebody as her stepmother was, and she was sure that she was equally certain she couldn't get away with it, not unless Sallie fell in with the scheme and there was a swell chance of that!

All she wanted now was to get home to Mrs. Brennan and her job at the Fair Deal! Here she was in New York where she didn't know a soul, without clothes or money and in the hands of a woman who was evidently determined to keep her for awhile, at least, but meantime Ma Brennan would be crazy with worry, thinking that she'd run away on account of that quarrel with Mike, and she'd lose her job if she didn't show up mighty quick.

The door opened again and a shadowy little woman entered with a rifle of her stiffly starched white uniform and a professional smile on her lips. She bore a great bunch of pink roses and advanced to the bed.

"My patient is much better this morning, I hear!" Her voice was brisk but soothing and she did not stare as searching as the other woman had done. "Please come for you just now and I knew you would want to see them."

She laid the huge sheaf of roses on the coverlet and Sallie glanced indifferently at them until she saw that a card was poked in among them. Drawing it out she read the engraved name: "Mr. Wheeler Sloan," with "Forefathers Club" down in the lower left corner and written across the top in a queer, slanting, uneven hand: "Just heard the glad news. Waiting all impatience to see you."

Cousin Wheeler might wait indefinitely, as far as Sallie was concerned. She laid the card on the table beside her and watched the nurse as the latter moved about the room and into the tiled bath beyond with the quiet efficiency of a person who knew her business.

The nurse emerged from the bathroom shaking a tiny thermometer and approached the bed once more.

"The doctor will be here soon," she announced. "I must take your temperature now, Miss Copeland."

"Listen!" Sallie caught her wrist and pulled her down beside her. "You're Miss Tidmarsh, ain't you? How long have you been taking care of me?"

"For three days, my dear," Miss Tidmarsh answered, and one hand, smiling again. "You have made a splendid recovery."

"Then you know I'm not cuckoo, do you?" I mean, that there's nothing the matter with my head now even if I was knocked silly?"

"Of course not! It was only natural that you should be slightly delirious but you are perfectly rational this morning," Miss Copeland said.

"I'm not 'Miss Copeland'!" Sallie burst out desperately. "You've got to listen and try to understand! I was mixed up in that train wreck and rescued by mistake for somebody else; I don't know why Mrs. Copeland brought me here. I never saw her or that Theresa before in my life and I've got to go home."

"Understand!" Miss Tidmarsh spoke soothingly and did not appear to be surprised at the revelation. "That will all be arranged for you but you must let me take your temperature before you say any more for I must mark it on your chart and if it has risen I am afraid the doctor won't let you go."

"Say listen, sister, you've got me wrong!" Sallie pleaded in sudden panic. "They're trying to put that over on you the same as me, that I don't know who I am nor what I'm talking about! You've got to help me get away!"

"Yes, yes, I will, but not if you say one word more!" The nurse's cool tones had crisped with authority. "Take the thermometer—that is right, now close your lips, please. Give me your hand."

Her firm fingers closed on Sallie's wrist and the girl lay watching her in mute appeal as she counted the pulse-beats and frowning wrote some figures on a little red leather pad.

"Excuse me. Just a minute please!" Sallie removed the thermometer and went quickly into the bathroom before Sallie could utter a word, but a knock sounded almost immediately upon the outer door leading to the hall and she reappeared to usher in a slim, dapper, smooth-shaven man in the late forties, who with a whispered word and a nod handed her a small bag and then advanced to the bed rubbing his shapely hands together in a way that made Sallie long to throw something at him.

Sallie turned just as the door opened.

"Good morning, my dear! Ah, I see that we are coming around nicely now! The chart, please, Miss Tidmarsh. Ha, ha, temperature—four there has been too much excitement, we must keep you quiet!"

"Who are you?" demanded Sallie abruptly.

"Doctor Quallers, your physician. Take these, my dear. Now a little water, please, Miss Tidmarsh." He smiled, showing a row of shining teeth.

Sallie obediently swallowed the tablets and took a sip of the water, trying to control herself.

"Doctor," she essayed a faint smile. "I suppose you know who I am?"

"Certainly! You are Alva Copeland."

He took her hand and stroked it, and Sallie felt her teeth but forced herself to go on.

"Have you ever seen me before?"

"Before this accident, I mean?"

"Of course! You haven't forgotten?" Dr. Quallers laughed indulgently. "I attended you when you first returned to America a month ago and were feeling so badly after that rough passage, don't you remember? Before that I had not seen you since you were a little girl."

So he was in on it, too! Sallie's smile became a rictus as she learned back among her pillows. There was only one course for her to take now; sit pretty and let things ride.

CHAPTER III

The Newspaper Fragment

When Sallie awoke once more the shadows of late afternoon were creeping in at the window and the throbbing in her head had ceased. Reaching up she felt that the bandages had been removed and two strips of plaster were crossed under her hair.

She must first find out why Mrs. Copeland was trying to put over this bluff.

There must be a lot of servants in such a big house and they couldn't all be working in with Mrs. Copeland, for she was trying to get away with everything crooked she wouldn't take a chance on blackmail later; Sallie had listened to enough of Mike's talk about criminal cases to realize that, to say nothing of Ma Brennan's pet detective stories. Sooner or later she would discover somebody in that household who'd help her but until then it was up to her just sit tight. For the first time she found herself wondering about the real Alva Copeland. If there was any such girl and she had actually been in that wreck, what had become of her?

At this point her cogitations were interrupted by the entrance of Miss Tidmarsh bearing a tray and a small silver covers eagerly and Miss Tidmarsh smiled.

"You have had a nice little sleep, Miss Copeland," she remarked.

"I guess I have," Sallie agreed. "I'm awful hungry now, though; I hope you've brought something besides soup."

"A lovely squash, and some jelly and tea!" She removed the covers and the girl eyed the repast before her with some disappointment. That measly little frizzled-up bird! What she would give for one of Ma Brennan's boiled dinners right now!

Roxie Stinson, Back On Stand

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—(By The Associated Press)—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Harry M. Daugherty's friend, Jesse W. Smith, continued today before the Daugherty investigating committee her story of Smith's relation to the attorney general and the department of justice.

The session lacked some of the thrills at those in which Miss Stinson has previously testified before Senator Wheeler of Montana, the committee prosecutor, was sick in bed.

Before the questioning of the witness began, Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, read into the record a transcript of testimony put before the oil

Eat Hearty No After Distress

Don't refuse dishes you like because you're afraid they'll disagree with you. Preference for certain foods is the worst of eating habits to eat what is best for you. Thousands of former dyspeptics now eat heartily, thanks to JAKQUES' CAPSULES. One or two with swallow of water quickly end distress.

committee, having to do with stock purchases of Daugherty and Smith.

The stock accounts were under the name of "W. W. Spaul" of the stock brokerage firm of Hibbs and Company, and one of them was identified as a joint account of the attorney general and Smith, which, accountants said, might have received a loan of $25,000 from Smith.

Miss Stinson began by declaring that despite suggestions to the contrary, she believed Smith committed suicide. She reaffirmed her belief that Attorney General Daugherty was "morally responsible."

Smith was found dead a year ago in the apartment occupied by him and Daugherty.

Smith had "put his house in order" very carefully just before his death, the witness said, and she based her judgment that he took his own life on that circumstance.

She repeated that Smith was laboring under a great strain, resulting from his relations with the transactions she previously has described to the committee.

"It was my belief that Jesse Smith committed suicide," Chairman Brookhart reiterated.

Says Daugherty Morally Responsible

"Yes, sir," Miss Stinson said. "So far as I am concerned, I am sure that he did take his own life. However, I cannot say that Daugherty was morally responsible for his death."

Chairman Brookhart asked her to give details as to the property of Smith before he came to Washington, remarking that by her testimony he had left an estate of between $125,000 and $140,000. The witness produced an inventory which she explained in detail.

"When he went to Washington," she said, "he had some cash stock, worth $10,000," she said. And some 900 shares in another company, "appraised at $70,000, but worth more than that."

"He possessed a share of a dry goods store which he sold for $40,000," she continued. "A $12,000 house and two cars worth $2,500. He might have had a few stocks on margin and other minor things, inconsequential."

"Now, what did he have when he died that he did not have when he came to Washington?" asked Senator Brookhart.

"There was $63,000 in Liberty Bonds at the Riggs Bank," said the witness. "He owned shares of Pure Oil worth $5,584. Then there was 200 Central Leather, worth $4,000."

"According to your figures on coming to Washington," Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, put in, "Mr. Smith had about $136,000."

Miss Stinson agreed.

Sentinel Moses then pointed out that the inventory of the estate showed he had at death $214,000 and Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, asked if the witness had reason to believe that Smith left property not covered in the inventory. After a brief hesitation, she said she preferred "not to answer that."

"Are the $5 $1,000 bills you testified Mr. Smith had listed in the inventory?" asked Senator Ashurst.

"No."

"You do not know what became of them?"

"I do not."

"Do you know the name of the gentleman who was present when Jesse Smith died?"

"Yes, Mr. Martin, Mal Daugherty told me, was present."

Martin is private secretary to the attorney general.

Sentinel Moses asked if there was a "money held" found in Smith's personal effects. Miss Stinson said she did not know.

"Attorney General Daugherty has said I am an angry woman because I want his son to be helped," she remarked.

"If you have reason to believe he had other property, I'd like you to state it," said Senator Jones.

"I'd rather not answer."

"Do you know that there was a note found in Mr. Smith's pocket when he died?" Senator Ashurst asked. "I only know there was a will found, all in his handwriting, dated Wednesday, and he passed away Wednesday."

It appeared the will was different from the one giving $25,000 to Attorney General Daugherty.

"It was the duty of those who had charge to file this for the court's inspection," said Senator Ashurst.

Miss Stinson said this will, though considered invalid, had been shown to the court.

Chairman Brookhart put in a letter written by Smith to Miss Stinson, dated in December, 1922, telling her to "sell White Motor and hold Pure Oil." It spoke of the Daugherty impeachment proceedings before the house and said "everybody was full of fight."

Another letter, dated January 2, 1923, described Smith's sale of his Washington Court House, Ohio, store, saying he had "lost some money" on the deal, but was well satisfied.

All the letters read were on Attorney General Daugherty's department of justice stationery. They were all headed "My Dear."

In an interpolation regarding the letter referring to the impeachment proceedings, Miss Stinson said that about Christmas, 1922, Smith told her "the senate was stacked" to prevent Daugherty's impeachment.

"On January 3, 1923, Smith wrote from Washington that he was coming to Ohio with the attorney general for an unexpected visit." In a later letter, in affectionate terms, he told her "not to worry about finances, but let me know."

"I think you said once that Mr. Smith spent a good deal of time," Senator Ashurst said.

"He told me that they—and 'they' meant Attorney General Daugherty—spent about $50,000 a year just for living in Washington," Miss Stinson said.

Miss Stinson said that Smith told her on one occasion that "five men had made $23,000,000" in a Sinclair oil deal in the fall of 1922.

She asked Smith she said, "were you and Harry in on it?"

"No. That's why we are sore. They were all our friends," she quoted Smith as replying.

Sentinel Jones asked Miss Stinson to name the five men and she said she "was not sure" of them.

"Was Ned McLean one of them?"

"I'm not sure."

Sentinel Jones asked Miss Stinson how much money Smith sent her from Washington. She estimated it at several thousand dollars and said there had been several "5500 bills."

"It was much more, this money, than he had been used to giving you before he came to Washington?" Chairman Brookhart asked.

"Oh, yes, much more."

"Did you ask him where the money came from?"

"It was a delicate subject—even when we were together," she said.

"I never liked to ask him a direct question. She objected to answering, but the committee pressed the point."

"Well, he told me in the fall of 1922, that five men had made $23,000,000," she said. "I think the deal was in Sinclair Oil."

Asked further about the $23,000,000 deal, Miss Stinson said she would "rather have the things come out on cross-examination."

Sentinel Jones questioned her attitude.

"Unless questions are asked of me," she asserted, "I'm going to say just as little as I can. I am here because Senator Wheeler came down to my house and told me I had to go."

She turned back to the letters. Smith wrote her in February, 1923, that he was "blue and depressed" while Attorney General Daugherty was "worried" too much about things at the office.

"This is getting on my nerves," the letter said. "I am afraid I will try to pieces. Keep your own counsel and don't see get sick."

Sentinel Ashurst went back to the $23,000,000 deal and Miss Stinson repeated her conversation with Smith, but she again resisted replying to questions as to the identity of "the five men."

"I was at home, in my apartment at Washington Court House," Miss Stinson said, and Jesse told me he was losing large amounts of money on the stock market. He said he was going to stop."

"He said 'five fellows just made $23,000,000 on the stock market in three days.' I asked 'were you and Harry in on it?' and he said 'no, that's what we are sore about,' and went on to say they were men they had been dining with."

"We would like to know especially if McLean was one of these," said Chairman Brookhart.

Miss Stinson bit her lips and stopped.

"I don't like to tell for the simple reason that I don't like to," she said. "I have my reasons."

Sentinel Brookhart said the committee would take up the question further in evidence as to the names of these five men "in executive session."

The witness began examining telegrams she received from Smith and there was a reference to a $100,000 purchase in Ohio.

"You have asked me if I knew if Mr. Smith had more money," the witness put in.

"In the spring of 1923, I was thinking of buying a hotel in Columbus and the price was $100,000. Jesse Smith told me to go ahead and buy it and he never would unless he had the money."

Sentinel Jones reverted to the $23,000 deal and Miss Stinson said she had told no one the names of the "five men." "Not even Senator invalid, would receive the news."

While the senate was convening, the committee lingered on almost every subject in the world.

To Smith, on April 11, 1923, from Washington Court House, M. S. Daugherty wired:

"We desire to take up hands deposited with alien property custodian and return to party. Will deposit surely hands."

In the same month, Smith exchanged telegrams with M. S. Daugherty and arranged to meet him in New York, where "party expected to arrive from the South."

Later, Smith and M. S. Daugherty were to go to Philadelphia. The trip was "a hard one," Smith wired Miss Stinson. On May 3, Smith wired Miss Stinson that he had "a most important matter for Wednesday that I must attend to, and after that all will be better."

At 12:30 p. m. the committee recessed until tomorrow.

Wheeler."

"I never told anybody in the United States any more," she said.

Chairman Brookhart, excused her, saying Senator Wheeler desired to be present at the cross examination.

The chairman began reading telegrams that passed between Smith and M. S. Daugherty, E. B. McLean and others. Some of the messages to Smith were signed "JL," and Senator Brookhart said that it would be shown later to whom "JL" referred to.

One went to McLean at Palm Beach on February 5, 1923, by Smith, said Daugherty's health was improving.

On February 8, McLean wired an invitation to the attorney general to come to Palm Beach.

Most of the messages constituted a monotonous record of Daugherty's illness and recovery, day by day.

In March, there began to be references to the Dorothy King murder mystery in New York, and to the story told the authorities by Draper Daugherty, the attorney general's son, about his acquaintance with the murdered woman, Smith expressed anxiety as to how Mrs. Harry Daugherty, who is an "ifre men," "not even Senator invalid, would receive the news."

"Thank-U" Delights Large Audience

(Sydney Strange.)
The program said that the scene of "Thank-U" which was presented to an almost capacity audience at the high school last night, was laid in Dedham, Conn., but it might as well have been most any other small town, for the appeal was universal.

There are doubtless parishes other than Dedham, where the rectory is wretchedly underpaid and the rector is a "Thank-U" man, subsisting on the charitable gifts of his flock. Fortunately, David Lee had a niece Diane, and when she arrived from Paris with her French gowns, her cigarettes and her sharp vision of what was wrong in the parish, things began to move rapidly in Dedham. "You can't expect your people to look up to you on Sunday when they look down on you the rest of the week," said Diane, and set about making the parish respect her uncle and the rectory again. In so doing she landed on the front page of a yellow journal, and involved in the scandal her uncle, the vestrymen and young Kenneth Jamieson, the son of a wealthy New Yorker. But, of course, it all ends happily; the hard-hearted vestrymen are led to see the errors of their ways, Kenneth decides to give up idle dalliance with the drunk rector, and Papa Jamieson endows the forms, and with a steam-heating plant and engages the bride suite on an ocean-going steamship for Kenneth and Diane.

One of the funniest scenes in the play is the meeting of the parsimonious rector, George A. Schiller, as Abner Norton, the nervous, forgetful clerk, was screamingly his handkerchief, his eyes, the last meeting, or whatever it was he was supposed to have, which he was sure to have mislaid. Harry Davenport plays the part of David Lee, the rector, without cant or smugness. If all the wearers of the cloth were as saintly sweet there would be fewer church splits. We would like to try to tangle David up in the Modernist-Fundamentalist argument. Henry Carpenter, as Miss Diane, with engaging little mannerisms that help to keep up the illusion of a Paris background. She looks the part to perfection, and in the last act gave a hint of talent as a comedienne that made us wish to see her in such a role at some future date. Frank Monroe, as Cornelius Jamieson, the New York millionaire, displays a dry humor that forms an excellent contrast to the broad comedy of Phil Bishop, as "Auntie," the village snob, who reformed out of love for the rector. Robert Keith is a handsome and satisfactory lover.

And the moral of the tale is this: "Pay your rectors enough to live on comfortably and don't make them accept (ins)." But John Golden didn't bring the moral out in front for us to read. He wrapped it all up in laughs and romance, and a real human interest plot, and let us find it gradually. So hilarious was the curtain was more to the fact that two truck loads of scenery and properties got stuck in the mud on the grade at the ferry, and for two hours, from 5 o'clock until 7, stage carpenters, draymen and members of the local lodge of Elmslith labored to get the equipment started on its way to the high school.

"Thank-U" is the second of the productions which have been brought to Portsmouth this season through the efforts of Elmslith B'nai B'rith, and the enthusiastic audience last night testified to their appreciation of really worth while drama. Aside from increasing the invaluable service in placing it on the program of the new Jewish Temple, Elmslith B'nai B'rith is doing Portsmouth a map for road shows of the standard of "The Last Year" and "Thank-U."

PORTSMOUTH PEOPLE PRAISE PEPGEN AT FISHER & STREICH'S

Pepgen, the new medical discovery for stomach, liver and kidney ailments, is daily winning the approval of Portsmouth people who have given it a trial. "Pepgen is surely a fine medicine," says Mrs. Emma Jones, of 1123 Tenth street, Portsmouth. "I had been in a sort of run-down condition for some time. Every morning it seemed like I would wake up with a headache. 'I would have a had sour taste in my mouth and I felt tired and worn out all over. At night I would have a full, bloated feeling in my stomach. It would often keep me awake for hours. A gas would form in my stomach and press up against my heart and cause it to beat too fast. 'About three weeks ago I got a bottle of Pepgen and have been taking it regularly. 'Almost the first dose seemed to do me good. Since I started taking Pepgen I have not had a sign of that headache. I get up in the morning feeling fine and ready to do a good day's work. I know Pepgen is a good medicine because of the good it has done me.' The genuine Pepgen, which Mrs. Jones has recommended, is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy, Cor. Sixth and Chillicothe streets.—Advertisement.

Constable Says Arrest Was Made After He Saw Horton Make Sale

Walter Horton, arrested Saturday night by Clay township Constable Roy McCormick on charges of possession and selling moonshine liquor, was fined $100 and costs on each charge when he faced Mayor Verner Bueley at New Boston yesterday. The officer claimed Horton was operating a gangway in the vicinity of Fifth and Chillicothe street, and placed him under arrest after he had witnessed a sale of the forbidden fluid, he says.

MR. THOMAS H. COPPAGE, COLUMBUS, O.

A testimonial of unusual interest was recently given the Kad-dik expert by Mr. Thomas H. Coppage of 116 S. Front street, Columbus. Mr. Coppage is 62 years of age and is a handsome gentleman by trade. He is now in the employ of a county contractor. He said: "I formerly suffered with rheumatism and kidney trouble. I had terrible pains in my back and limbs. The rheumatism was so bad in my limbs that I had to use a crutch for over six weeks and was almost helpless. 'I took many medicines and treatments but failed to get any better. Then I heard about Kad-dik and started taking it. I am surely glad that I did so. In a very short time I began to improve and it was not long before I discarded my crutches. I am now entirely free from rheumatism and kidney trouble and feel like my old self again. I cannot fail to have a great deal of faith in Kad-dik after my experience with it, and urge all rheumatic sufferers to at least give it a trial. Kad-dik can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Waiter Hit By Auto; Taken To Hospital

Tom Vionas, 40 years old, is in Mercy hospital suffering from a broken right arm and a severe scalp wound which he sustained shortly after seven o'clock Tuesday evening when struck by an automobile driven by C. W. Snyder, 225 Court street. Vionas had just left the White Front restaurant, where he is employed as a waiter, and was crossing Gallia street, between Bond and Gay, when he was hit by the machine and hurled to the asphalt paving. The driver promptly picked up the injured man and hurried him to the home of Dr. A. R. Moore and from there he was sent to the hospital. Mr. Snyder claims that he was driving east on Gallia street at a moderate rate of speed and that the mishap was caused by Vionas stepping out from the front of parked cars, directly in the path of the machine. Vionas is a native of Greece.

Times Newsie Hurt

John Harris, Times newsboy, was hurt, though not seriously, shortly after four o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile at Second and Chillicothe streets. The lad was on his way to the Times office to procure his evening quota of papers when the mishap occurred, and although he suffered a laceration on his head and a painful laceration on his elbow, placed and remained on the job and carried his route as usual. He is a son of Mrs. Beatrice Harris, 1332 Center street. The bike was almost entirely demolished by the force of the collision and the driver of the auto, who gave his name as Calhoun Webb, 739 Ninth street, agreed to pay the damage.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for any one. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in three days—why, money back and no quibbling about it, either.—Advertisement.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoon in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for the week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples. Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.—Advertisement.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

First Presbyterian.
"What think ye of Christ?" This age-old question, propounded first in the gospel of St. Matthew, was the subject of Rev. Warren J. Conrad of Williamsport, Pa., speaking before a large audience in the First Presbyterian church last night.

"Here is a question," Dr. Conrad said, "which cannot be set aside, the eternal question, unchangeable and ever present. Other questions you may dodge. This one you cannot."

"Some give the answer of tradition; some would offer the answer of theology, without detection of heart's reply; others declare we have no use for the church; there are hypocrites in the church; give the answer of prejudice."

"But none of these answers suffice. The real answer is the answer of experience; experience which sees him tested in saving and keeping; experience which sees him guiding and comforting. This is the real answer, the answer of experience."

"Another question: What shall we do with Jesus Which is Called Christ?"

Despite inclement weather, last night's service was attended by a large congregation.

Second Presbyterian.

COAL MINERS O. K. WAGE PACT; MEANS THREE YEARS OF PEACE

INDIANAPOLIS, March 25. — (By The A. P.)—The rank and file of the United Mine Workers of America ratified the new wage agreement assuring peace in the bituminous industry for three years, by an overwhelming vote, it was announced here this afternoon. The vote was 164,888 to 26,254.

The new agreement, which was negotiated at Jacksonville, Fla. last month will continue present wages and working conditions in effect for another three years beginning April 1. While the contract embraces only the central competitive field composed of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, all other coal mining contracts are based on it.

At the expiration of the last two preceding wage agreements, the bituminous miners went on strike for a time.

The referendum vote was taken among the 6,000 locals of the international organization and the tabulation was completed in the union headquarters here.

PROSECUTOR OF MRS. STANNARD TO GET PAY FOR ONLY SIX DAYS

COLUMBUS, O., March 26. — (By The A. P.)—Attorney Randolph W. Walton, of Columbus, who represented State Welfare Director John E. Harper in the proceedings to oust Mrs. Mae Stannard as chief matron of the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, is to be paid for only six days of service at a rate to be fixed by Attorney General C. C. Chabbe, the state supreme court today held in Walton's suit, to compel the attorney general to pay him $1,500 for his service.

The attorney general contended that Director Harper was not warranted in trying to oust Mrs. Stannard and refused to represent him.

NEW WAY TO BANISH RHEUMATIC PAINS DISCOVERED BY ALESSANDRO VOLTA

Rids You of Rheumatic Pain Without Drugs or Medicines

Until recently, the real cause of Rheumatism has evaded scientific inquiry. And, naturally, the old-fashioned methods of treatment with internal remedies were uncertain and sometimes dangerous.

Now it has been definitely established that rheumatic pains are caused in many cases by the absorption of poisons into the blood.

Alessandro Volta, the well known physicist, for whom the electric volt was named, has produced an entirely new and revolutionary method of treatment for Rheumatism. He discovered a scientific combination of certain ingredients that produces a fine powder which, when shaken into the shoes or stockings, is intended to be immediately absorbed into the blood. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that the soles of the feet contain 10 times as many pores as the square inch as are found in other parts of the body.

He has called this powder Volta. Its use has given immediate relief, in many instances, from the terrible crippling, starting pain even in stubborn, long-standing cases.

The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in their city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price of the first box in any case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved.

All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long standing their case may be, should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer. You can get Volta from Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store, Warrenton Bros., Fisher & Streich, Advertisement.

New Steamer Here Next Saturday

Ohio River cities, east of Cincinnati will have their first look at the new steamer, Cincinnati, during the next few days, when this greatest of all western river passenger-carrying boats will make her first voyage to Pittsburgh, preliminary to starting out on the longest inland river cruise possible—from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, a distance of 2,000 miles.

The Cincinnati, with a number of passengers and a cargo of freight, will leave Cincinnati next Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock for various up-river ports. Stops will be made at Portsmouth, Huntington, Parkersburg, Marietta, Wheeling, Steubenville and two or three other cities, the boat arriving in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

On Saturday, April 5, the Cincinnati will start down the river. This trip has been designated the "Mark Twain Cruise," extending to New Orleans, two thousand miles from the headquarters of the Ohio and return to port of Pittsburgh. Excursionists from all portions of the North and East will make the tour, the majority of them embarking at Pittsburgh, with others joining the boat at Cincinnati and Louisville.

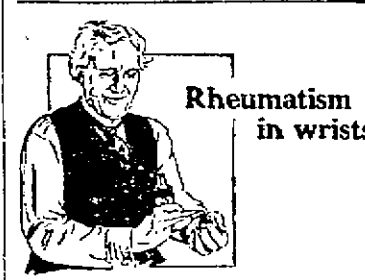

The Cincinnati, which went into commission last month, has accommodations for more than 300 passengers, as well as a freight carrying capacity of 1,500 tons.

Lecture Given In College By Negro Porter

HANOVER, N. H., March 25. — (By The A. P.)—John Baptist Ford, negro Pullman porter, told a class at the Truck School of administration and finances at Dartmouth college, that a porter has as much respect for the traveler who tips as for the traveler who does not. When a student asked the lecturer what the proper tip for a porter was, Ford replied:

"Let your conscience be your guide."

The porter was invited to lecture by Professor Malcolm Keir, of the department of economics, who met Ford while traveling and was impressed by his qualities.

Ford appeared on the same platform with a railroad executive, a banker, professors and economists.

In his address, the porter told the story of his life. From the status of a cotton picker at the age of seventeen, he struggled to educate himself and to learn from those he met in the course of his work.

Fate of Lester Davis To Be in Hands of Jury Late Today; Shumate Clashes With Attorney

CINCINNATI, Mar. 26.—The case of Lester Davis alias Clarence Crosser, 22, of Portsmouth, Ohio, on trial on the charge of first degree murder in criminal court here is expected to be placed in the hands of the jury late today.

The arguments by attorneys for Davis, concluded their second fight for his life.

Assistant Prosecutor Dudley M. Outen, in the closing argument, for the state, asked for a conviction of first degree murder, as charged.

At the first trial last November the jury disagreed.

Davis was indicted for having been a member of the hooded klan, which attempted to rob Louis Knaum motion picture theatre owner, the night of May 8, 1923 during which Edward McClain, one of the bandits, was accidentally shot and killed by one of his companions.

Dale R. Waterfield, and Herbert Welsenberger, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder for their part in the holdup and murder, are now serving life sentences in the penitentiary.

At yesterday's session Sheriff Harry Dunham and Magistrate George Morgan of Portsmouth testified that there were two Lester Davises in Portsmouth and that the previous offences the state was trying to fasten on the defendant, were committed by the other Lester Davis who was shot and killed during a street fight in Portsmouth last Christmas Day.

The charges included one of an attempted attack on a Portsmouth girl.

"Isn't it a fact that you are testifying as you do because at the time the Portsmouth girl was attacked you were yourself calling on her although you are a married man?"

"You're a liar!" Chief Shumate cried.

"Don't call me a liar" Attorney Krehbiel shouted back as he jumped from his chair.

It was at that point that deputy sheriff prevented battle.

County Clerk John W. Hall and Former Probation Officer Harry Ball, both of Portsmouth, also were called as witnesses by the state. Judge Ball testified there had been a "Lester Davis" before him on the charge of having attempted to attack the girl, but testified he could not identify the Lester Davis in the court room as being the same one.

"I do know," the judge testified, "that the mother of that Lester Davis was Mrs. Florence Davis, who later became Mrs. Frank Fox. She rented property from me."

The state is expected to call Davis' mother to question her as to whether she was "Mrs. Florence Davis, now Mrs. Frank Fox." She has been in the court room throughout the trial and has given her name "unofficially as 'Mrs. Frank Fox'."

Other Portsmouth witnesses present were Former Sheriff Ernest E. Rieky and Fireman Leslie Flowers.

Exchangeites Made a Big Hit In Jackson

Relative to the recent trip local Exchangeites made to Jackson, the Jackson Sun this week says:

"The Portsmouth Exchangeites came to Jackson last Thursday evening and entertained sixteen of Jackson's young business men at a banquet at the Cambrian Hotel."

There were forty-four members of the Exchange Club of the River City who came here, all young business and professional men and they were surely a live wire bunch. They spread a spirit of optimism and good fellowship here.

"The purpose of their visit here was to show a group of Jackson's men just what Exchange means, with the idea in mind of starting an Exchange Club here."

"Although the weather was most unfavorable, about forty-five Exchangeites of Portsmouth, came in machines and their enthusiasm and optimism was not at all dampened by the wet weather."

"They had invited sixteen young men of Jackson to be their guests at the banquet, and some banquet it was, too."

There are coffees and other coffees— BUT So-rority is better. It's in the Air.

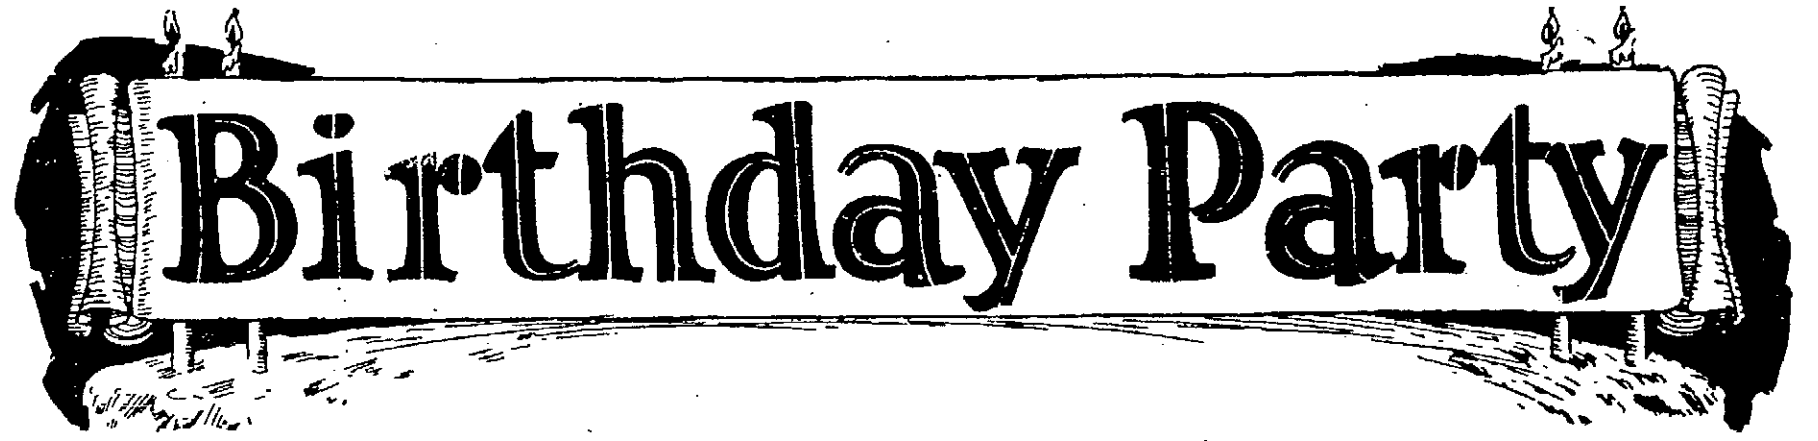

"During the evening a peppy program of vocal music was given, in which the Exchange Quartet made a big hit. This quartet was one of the best that ever hit Jackson."

Foil Plot

A representative of the American Mail Express, uncovered the plot and asked for police protection this morning.

He said he had been informed the express car, containing $100,000, would be taken from the train at Beck's Run bridge, where the bandits would pick it up in an automobile.

Twenty detectives boarded the train when it left here shortly before 1:00 p. m. for points in the Western Pennsylvania region. Others went to Beck's Run by automobile.

Superintendent Brophy observed a machine parked near the bridge. The detectives' car was stopped about 100 yards in front of it. When the train went by without stopping, the driver of the other machine started at high speed on the road to Clairton, the next station. With the car containing the officers in the lead, Superintendent

Brophy waived to the driver behind to stop. The signal was disregarded and the superintendent ordered that his machine be parked across the road. The other machine crashed into it, injuring the officers. The suspect drew a pistol but before he could use it one of the injured detectives disarmed and handcuffed him. The bandits' car bore Pennsylvania license plates, but in the drivers' seat the officers found a set of West Virginia plates.

The $100,000 consigned to the First National Bank of Clairton, was removed from the train there under guard of county detectives.

Two bandit suspects were removed from the train at Clairton, while the money in gold was being taken to the Union Trust Company there. The money represented a Carnegie Steel Company pay roll for the Clairton plants.

Superintendent Brophy, after assisting his men in a search for other suspects in Homestead, returned to his office in the city and complained of a pain in his right side. A police surgeon found that he had suffered two fractured ribs. He was removed to his home.

Notorious

Deputies who had circled about Lockhart and Grady then opened fire. Grady, who was in the car, was killed by a bullet which was in Lockhart's pocket and without removing it from the other's clothing, fired once, the bullet entering Lockhart's body from the back, below the kidney.

Lockhart fell with the words, "You have killed me," on his lips.

The death of Lockhart, brings to an end the career of what peace officers described as the "Big Three" of Oklahoma outlaws. Henry Starr and Al Spencer, with whom Lockhart was alleged to have been closely associated in many acts of brigandage in Oklahoma and Arkansas, also died from the bullets of officers' guns and all within a comparatively short time.

Cataracts Removed

Robert S. Drake, of 1145 Fourth street, had two cataracts removed from his eyes in Homestead hospital this morning. The operation was performed by Dr. H. A. Green and Mr. Drake is getting along as well as could be expected.

French Premier

President Millerand. It was understood the president desired to urge him to reconsider his determination not to attempt the formation of another ministry.

The measure, acceptance of which was made a question of confidence by Finance Minister Delasteyrie in the absence of Premier Poincare, was rejected by a vote of 271 to 264.

The premier was before the foreign affairs committee asking for a favorable recommendation of the treaty of Locarno when word of the defeat came. He immediately called the members of the cabinet together in one of the committee rooms of the chamber and after hasty consultation, it was decided to resign. The cabinet members proceeded at once to wait upon President Millerand at the Elysee Palace and M. Poincare presented their collective resignation.

Indications are that the president will ask M. Poincare to form another ministry, but the premier's attitude is regarded as doubtful as he has repeatedly declared that if part of his cabinet went down all would go together.

The fall of the cabinet, after it had survived a long and arduous struggle in putting through parliament its program of heavily increased taxation to balance the budget during which it was constantly obliged to pose the question of confidence, fell this morning on a comparatively insignificant issue.

Portsmouth Banking Co. Buys Uptown Site; Will Make No Change for Present

The Portsmouth Banking Co. has purchased from Phil M. Stretch the property on Sixth street, immediately west of his drug store, for the purpose of erecting a new building and installing a new system of heating and ventilation.

The purchase was made by a simple deed without further authorization from parliament, passed both the senate and the chamber of deputies last Saturday.

Prior to the beginning of its financial reform campaign which it undertook because of the sensational decline of the franc, the government commanded overwhelming support in both houses, especially on M. Poincare's well known policy toward Germany and the reparations issue.

The Poincare ministry, which thus comes to an end, has held power since January 1922—its slightly more than two years of life covering a most momentous period in post war history. Taking up the reins of government, Premier Poincare adopted an energetic attitude on the question of reparations payments by Germany and when the years 1922, had gone by without any satisfactory adjustment being arrived at, the Poincare government in January of last year, decided upon seizure of a "pledge" from Germany.

The occupation of the Ruhr valley by joint action of France and Belgium followed. Great Britain was not in sympathy with this move and the differences between the two nations on this and other questions relating to reparations, led to something of a rift in the entente, which only lately has come about to bridge over the gap between the MacDonald government and the Poincare ministry.

The fall of the government comes just on the eve of the expected presentation by the Dawes expert committee of its report for the financial and economic status and the committee's anticipated presentation of a program which it has been hoped would lead to an agreement on the reparations question, solve the Ruhr difficulty, start Germany on a path of economic soundness, and eventually bring about renewed economic stability in Europe.

Just what effect the withdrawal of the Poincare ministry at this time may have upon the result of the expert committee's investigations and conclusions remains to be developed.

OBITUARY

McMahon Funeral

Father Thomas Carey is home from Ironton, where he took part in the last rites of the late Nicholas McMahon of that city. They were conducted from the St. Lawrence church, Wednesday morning, with Father Cotter as the celebrant, Father Gloeckner as the deacon and Father Carey as sub-deacon.

William Welch

William Welch, aged 75, died at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the County Infirmary, where he had made his home since May 25, 1921.

Mr. Welch had made his home for some time with relatives in the South Webster district, following death of all the members of his immediate family.

Mr. Welch, previous to going to the South Webster district, had lived in Portsmouth with his aged wife and son, but left the city after their deaths, several years ago.

Funeral and burial services will be held Thursday.

Local relatives have received news of the death of Frank H. Bockel, at his home in Asheville, N. C. He lived until April 7th, he would have been 51 years old. He was born and reared near Olive Hill, Ky., but for some years was a resident of Portsmouth, and leaves many relatives and friends here. He leaves one daughter by his first marriage, Mrs. R. P. Tutman, of Sharon, Pa., who had been at his bedside for some time; also his second wife, Bessie Embler Bockel, and two sons Orval 18, and Willie 17. Two brothers, James Bockel of Portsmouth, and George of Haldemann, Ky., also survive.

Boron Funeral

Funeral services for James S. Boron, who died Monday, will be held from the home, 1231 Offshore street, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. E. H. Bailey in charge. Burial will be in Greenlawn.

Mabel Aileen Miller

Mabel Aileen Miller, daughter of Arthur and Edith Miller, of Harrisonville Ave., New Boston, was born Feb. 18th, 1924, died March 22nd, 1924, age 4 weeks and 4 days. Death was due to pneumonia and she leaves to mourn her death, her parents, one brother, Vernon and one sister Pearl.

Peter Michler

The funeral of Peter Michler, who died a few days ago at his home in Webster, was held this morning from St. Peter and Paul's church in that city. Mr. Michler was a veteran of the Civil war was well known by many in this city. His daughters, Ida, Margaret and Sina were also well known here.

Funeral of Mrs. Josephine Colegrove

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Colegrove who died Tuesday morning at two o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Landreth of Minford will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the Minford M. E. church with the pastor Rev. William Sheppard in charge. Mrs. Colegrove was the widow of the late Allen Colegrove who died nine years ago. She was 74 years of age and leaves one daughter and three sons to mourn her loss. They are Mrs. John Erwin, William and Walter Colegrove of Minford and Elmer of Marion, Ohio. Mrs. Colegrove, who was one of the most highly respected residents of Minford had been making her home for the past few years with her grand-children, Mr. and Mrs. Landreth. She had been ill all winter with complications.

Shelton Fisher, an N. & W. engineer, has purchased C. E. Rieck's fine home at 1865 Hutchins street. The consideration was $18,500 and the Rieck Realty Company handled the negotiations.

Mr. Rieck will build a new home on Kinney's Lane near the J. M. Stockham home.

New Alarm System Ready for Use

Fire Chief William Atkins of the New Boston fire department announced this afternoon that all six-story ever vernalisrdworgkoon teen boxes of the new fire alarm system were in working order and ready for use. The village fire alarm system is connected with the Portsmouth system and when an alarm is turned in it will be recorded at the three Portsmouth fire stations and New Boston station.

Will Leave City

Arrested on statutory charges, Miss Lessie Fairbanks, 19, and George Fossett, 20, both colored, pleaded not guilty when in Municipal court Wednesday, but after hearing the evidence which showed that the woman had permitted Fossett, who is a married man, to call on her at her home, 1215 Elm street, despite warnings, Judge Sprague gave Miss Fairbanks the alternative of spending thirty days in jail or leaving town, and she chose the latter way out by promising to shake the dust of Portsmouth from her feet.

McDANIELS TO MANAGE TEAM

John (Chuck) McDaniels will get his chance this season. He has just signed to manage the Bristol, Tenn. team in the Appalachian League. He has been with this team for several years and now that he has been placed at the helm he no doubt will make good in his new managerial capacity. Chuck is a real leader and his friends are confident he will have a winner in Bristol.

BREAK LOSING STREAK

NEW YORK, March 26.—The New York Giants emerged from their losing streak of four straight games, to win from Toledo, of the American Association, at the latter's camp at Galesville, Pa., yesterday. President John Heydler, of the National League, saw Brooklyn, Ga., in preparation for their afternoon tilt bout in Newark next Monday night. McDaniels is finishing his training in Madison Square Garden, while Stripling is polishing up in the Newark A. C. gymnasium.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 26.—George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Americans, not content with being a "come-back" alone, topped all Browns players at batting practice game at Mobile yesterday with three safeties out of four attempts.

Women Golfers Are At Pinehurst

PINE HURST, N. C., March 26.—Miss Gleana Collier, of Providence, present titleholder, went into the second round of match play here today in the twenty-third annual north and south women's golf tournament with the assurance that she would have to battle her way through a brilliant field to retain the championship.

Most of the winners in the eight matches of the first round of the championship fight yesterday played high-class golf, but Miss Collier, playing championship golf, is favored to retain the honors.

Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, women's champion, also finished well in the play yesterday.

Callahan Fined
C. F. Callahan, arrested at New Boston on a speeding charge, was fined $10.00 by Mayor Verne Heger.

MIXED PRICE MOVEMENTS ON WALL STREET

Numerous Stocks Under Pressure;
Baldwin, U. S. Steel, Oil Stocks Strong

NEW YORK, March 26.—Mixed price movements marked the opening of today's market with a resumption of selling pressure against American stocks which dropped 1/8 to 1/16, a new price on the current movement. Motor and accessories shares also were under attack, Strohbecker being hammered down more than a point to a new low. Baldwin, United States Steel and some oil stocks were slightly higher.

Considerable irregularity prevailed in the early dealings with prices failing to establish a definite trend.

Element of Uncertainty
In The Hardware Markets

NEW YORK, March 26.—Hardware is in its weekly market summary will say tomorrow.

No major price changes were made during the past week. Spring business is said to be developing at a satisfactory pace in the hardware markets throughout the country, but an indefinable element of uncertainty is beginning to be manifested in the attitude of buyers.

Orders for the most part are numerous, but they are confined to small quantities.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, March 26.—Weather conditions are influencing security and commodity prices. Favorable weather in the south, which has been behind the growing crop, has been largely responsible for the recent decline in cotton futures. One report says omission of the extra dividend on American Can was due, in part,

Norfolk and Western which advanced a point was offset by weakness of the tobacco shares. General Asphalt and Chandler, which fell 3 points to a new low price of 47. Strohbecker, however, moved counter to the general trend of the market. American Sumatra Tobacco strengthened on the announcement of the company officials that there would be no change in the dividend. American Packing moved up two points. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

Renewal of professional attack against American Can, which extended its loss to more than two points, and against Baldwin which was driven back to its previous 1924 low, imparted a heavier tone to the rest of the list. Special weakness cropped out in American Agricultural Chemical, which broke 3 1/2 to a new low. A flock of new lows was established by the tobacco shares, including Tobacco Products,

NO UNIVERSAL RULE

THE Kentucky educator who expresses the opinion that the man of 45 who has not earned enough money to retire is a failure in life takes an extremely mercenary view for an educator. Persons who devote themselves to education might be supposed to consider rewards other than money as also of value.

Certainly one would not be likely to enter any branch of teaching from the grades schools to the university with the expectation of amassing in that line of effort sufficient wealth by the time the age of 45 is reached to warrant retirement into luxury. If the acquisition of wealth were the sole measure of success it might be well to hurry up the process lest it be not accomplished at all. However, there are other standards certainly not less important, though we would not deprecate the thrift and business acumen which enable many to accumulate material resources. Even were the size of one's bank account the only yardstick it happens that many men do not reach business success until after 45. Judged by this standard every president of the United States but one, would have been a failure.

One who attempts to fix a limit at which usefulness ends engages in a fruitless occupation. Some men are doers so long as they live while others never do anything at any age. Result depends on the individual and no rule amounts to a plaything which attempts to fix boundaries beyond which man shall not go. Some men are as well prepared to retire at 30 as ever afterward and might as well do it, if later efforts are considered. Yet, retirement should not be the goal.

It is the mission of mankind to work and that one best fills the purpose of life who gives some form of useful service so long as one lives. One may divert energies, but if one becomes so apart from the world that no void would be caused by departure then does one cease to live though still in the flesh. Were the Kentucky educator's dictum to be true a great proportion of the men of the past whom the world holds in reverence for their deeds were failures.

HOSPITAL FUNDS

COUNCIL is, of course, within its rights, in getting well informed before it appropriates more money for the completion of Hempstead hospital. But money needed to finish the structure must be furnished in the end. On that point there should be no dispute. Regardless of how opinions may have differed in the past, the fact remains that we have a building two-thirds completed and it would be a sad mistake to suspend work now. And when completed we will have a hospital, owned by the city, to which we can point with pride, as an example of how Portsmouth takes care of her citizens. Let us forget the past and look to the future.

SAVAGES AND SKUNKS

THERE are a lot of savages and skunks running around in the world in the guise of human beings. For instance, a fellow in a Ford coupe ran over a little dog the other day and when a child called to him shouted back, "What do I care." Then with a burst of laughter he put on speed and got away before his number could be taken. But we often wonder how people with such depraved instincts manage to sleep. One would think their dreams would be horrid, shuddery, wicked things, filled with shapes and shadows that would drive all real rest away.

You can do what you like if you like what you do.

Men who long for the old days would hate red underwear.

What makes a half bald man madder than buying a whole hair cut?

Actress has a hard life. About time she gets used to her husband it is time to get another one.

If a man wants his dreams to come true he has to wake up.

The line of least resistance leads downward and the line of most persistence leads upward.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 26—Reality outstrips fiction. The scene was in one of New York's most exclusive clubs. The banquet had been finished and a few artists were to appear to entertain. A great man of affairs personally escorted to the platform a celebrated English actress.

Few present knew how innocently they had at one time figured in tragedy. Their lives had crossed many years ago. The man had a son who loved the woman. The son wanted to marry and they came to the father. She said she did not know which she loved most—the son or her art.

The father persuaded her to give him up. She did and her name became known all over the world. Twice she married unhappily. The son married, too, and reared a family. The actress became a victim of drink and drugs and once she was in poverty and dying. She sent for him.

His wife told him he should go for old time's sake. He sailed on a vessel that went to the bottom of the ocean and he was lost. The actress recovered and finally was reclaimed from her addictions. She again resumed her stage career and came to America.

The banquet was given in honor of the father for distinguished service. She heard of it and wrote him a note asking if she might not be permitted to appear. He graciously consented and said he wanted the privilege of introducing her.

The story was told to me by a man who was at the banquet and in whom the father confided. At the dinner party where the story was related to me was Peter B. Kyne, the novelist. At the conclusion the story teller turned to Kyne with: "There, Peter, is the plot of a novel for you." "It is enthralling," said Kyne, "but it is the kind of story that would not be believed."

It has been estimated New York spends $31,500,000 a year on hat tipping. It sounds extravagant, but is based on some excellent figures. A Broadway restaurant recently turned over its concession for the centroom for $12,000 a year, which is $25 a day. There are 800 hotels and 2,400 restaurants and lunchrooms in the telephone directory.

Assuming all the hotels and half the restaurants have checkrooms—that makes 2,600 in on the Big Gauge. An average tribute of $12,500 to each figure up $31,500,000. Even if scaled down to half that figure—which would be far too small—one gets the idea of what is happening to the poor fellows who wear hats. Still, look at Absalom who didn't wear a hat!

The white wives of Chinese in Chinatown occupy the most pretentious apartments in that little shanty of crooked streets. Down there white wives are called those who have "gone yellow." They have several servants and achieved luxuries that they could not expect had they married in their own sphere. There is one sacrifice they must make. They must not leave Chinatown. It is an unwritten law that the white wife must remain in her home. If she goes out it must be with her husband, and even then she doesn't leave Chinatown's area. The motto of Chinatown is, "See nothing, hear nothing, say nothing."

The young girls of Chinatown, by the way, are not the slant-eyed damsels with bird claw nails tripping along on little feet. They are just as smartly dressed as their sisters uptown. They wear American shoes, dresses from the avenue, furs and use the lipstick with the same calm insouciance of the American girl. Many of them have smoky beehive hair and they smoke cigarettes when they go to tea-rooms. There is a social register in Chinatown, too. It consists mostly of the owners of importing stores and their families. They have nothing to do socially with those in a lower scale. Copyrighted, 1924, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

A MODERN VERSION

Hiawatha bought a Flivver;
Just went down and quickly bought it.

Went and bought it without thinking how he'd run it when he bought it. Made them push the Flivver outside. Take it outside from the inside. Made them take it inside outside. Made them take it from the inside. Made them leave it on the outside. He got in the Flivver's inside.

In the inside from the outside. And he drove it in the inside. Taking doors from off the hinges, running from the outside inside. Backing from the inside outside. This side, that side, inside, outside—Till the gasoline gave outside. —Illinois Motorist.

Plain Laziness

(Farm Life.)

I suppose, said one Arkansas woman to another, that your husband is still takin' life easy.

Yes, said the other. Henry has only two regrets in life. One is that he has to wake up to quit, and the other is that he has to quit eating to sleep.

Of No Importance

(Legion Weekly.)

Mother—William! You've been fighting again! Your nose is bloody—one eye is black—your teeth—oh, you are a sight! Do you know how you look?

William—(Tut, tut, maw!) What does a hero care for looks?

Arts And Arteries

She had a vast amount of money, but it had come to her quite recently. One day an acquaintance asked her if she was fond of art.

Fond of art? she exclaimed. "Well, I should say I was! If I am over in a city where there's an artery, I never fail to visit it."

It Might Seem So

Cynthia—"How is your husband?" Dorothy—"I haven't seen him for five years. I think I must have said something to annoy him."—London Mail.

He Knew

"Say, mom, these pants are so tight! They're tighter than my skin!"

"Don't be so foolish, Harold. There isn't anything tighter than your skin!"

"Well, these pants is, 'cause I can sit down in my skin, but I can't sit down in these pants."

His Failing

A southern negro minister who was given to the use of big words and complicated discourse was waited upon by the church committee and told that his style of preaching was not all that could be desired.

"Don't I argue and spout?" inquired the minister.
"Yes, yo' dono argue and spout," responded a member of the committee, "but yo' don't show wherein."—Boston Transcript.

Everyday Heroes

The man who can get into the bathtub without knocking off the wire soap-holder.

The man who, when the lower drawer of the bureau gets stuck, does not give it a kick.

The man who doesn't think that he "stands in" with the garage mechanic.

The man who can see a frosty pane, while waiting for a train, and not scratch his initials on it.

The wife who, when there are fresh peaches for dinner, does not remind her husband that peach stains won't come out.

Worse

"The only thing for you to do is to go around and ask her to forgive you."

"But I was in the right."

"Then you'd better take some flowers and candy with you, too."—Mugwump.

Worse and Worse

A dorky who had recently married was asked by the farmer for whom he worked how he and his Mandy were getting along. "Not very well, boss. The fact is, Mandy and me, we've done pacted."

"Pacted?" exclaimed the farmer. "Who, you were just married. You know, Sam, you can't leave Mandy. She's your wife and you took her for better or for worse."

"That's jest it, boss," said Sam. "I shore did tell that paction that I took that gal for better or wus. But, Lawd, dat gal is wus'n I took her to be."

Just The Opposite

"Tell me, John, does bleaching the hair lead to softening of the brain?"

"No, darling, it's generally the softening of the brain that leads to bleaching the hair."

15 CORPORATIONS AGREE TO STOP BILLBOARD ADS

NEW YORK, March 26.—Fifteen corporations have agreed to abolish highway billboard and poster advertising which has disfigured highways and marred scenery. It was announced tonight by Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman of the national committee for restriction of outdoor advertising. Among the fifteen are some of the largest users of outdoor advertising, the latest to agree being the Standard Oil Company of New York.

Other companies include: Kirkman and Son, soap manufacturers; Kelly-Springfield Tire; Pillsbury Flour Mills; Washburn Crosby, flour; Standard Oil of California; Champion Spark Plug; Sun Oil, kerosene; Ajax Rubber; Ward Baking; Dodge Brothers, automobiles; Gulf Refining Oil; Fleischman Yeast.

Noted Surgeon Drops Dead At Operating Table

MILWAUKEE, March 26.—(By the A. P.)—Dr. William F. Malone, widely known Milwaukee surgeon and member of the American College of Surgeons, died Tuesday at Ranover hospital while performing a major operation on a patient. Nurses and attendants in the room saw him faint and as they rushed to his aid, he fell to the floor.

An assisting physician completed the operation.

At the hospital tonight it was said that the operation on the patient had been a success.

Cow Chokes To Death

J. C. Robinson, of Fullerton, lost a valuable cow yesterday when the animal choked to death on some hay.
